STATUS: Indiana Refining is located three (3) miles south of Princeton, Gibson County. The surrounding area is predominantly rural with several residential homes within one-half mile and a church less than 500 feet away. The refinery was built in 1946 and known as R.J. Oil. The facility produced kerosene, naphtha, diesel, and number 5 fuel oil. The operation began gasoline production in 1950. The Indiana State Board of Health discovered environmental issues in 1985 and a subsequent removal of contaminated soils was conducted. The site has been secured. Of concern at the site was the discovery of a methane discharge adjacent to the refinery boundary. Staff is currently reviewing all data on the methane discharge.
